Zionists Gird For Fight
On Reorganization Plan

NEW YORK.—With the convention of the Zionist Organization of America set definitely for late June in Pittsburgh, Zionists were taking sides preparatory for the greatest fight since the Brandeis forces stepped out of the organization in 1920.

The clash will center around the proposed re-organization plan which already divided the Zionists into two camps, the one aligned with Abi Solomon Goldman, present president, and the other allied with Louis Lipsky, who is seeking to return to the presidency he held in 1924 to 1930.

Although many references have been made to the proposed re-organization plan, no detailed or even general outlines of the changes have been made public. From authoritative sources it is revealed that the new plan would divide the organization into regions, with each 500 members in the regions selecting a representative to the administrative committee. Since the membership now stands at 52,000 there would be only 104 members on the administrative committee instead of the 240 odd now on that governing body. The administrative committee would then elect an executive committee of twenty-five from among its members.

How radical this new plan is becomes apparent when it is seen that the greater New York's 8,000 members would name only sixteen members of the administrative committee in comparison to the 122 now selects. In other words the plan would decentralize management of the Z. O. A. and give membership, which for the most part is scattered throughout the country, a true share in the management.

The plan was reported at the Philadelphia meeting of Administrative committee several weeks ago for final action but the New York contingent which is fighting the plan bitterly, rallied its forces at the meeting and were able to postpone the decision to the meeting of the administrative committee on the eve of the Pittsburgh convention. The plan was altered by agreement to include on the administrative committee all ex-presidents of the Z. O. A., and in addition the convention will be allowed to name the executive committee for the next year.

Under the new plan it is thought that districts will be limited to four thousand members

Says Starvation Lot Of Millions Unless Quota Is Raised

Speaking to an overflow audience in the Kirshbaum Center on Thursday night on behalf of the Jewish Welfare Fund campaign, which opened this morning, Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver pleaded with his listeners to send back to their fellow Jews who have been beaten in body, and harrowed in spirit, who are hungry, hounded and exiled, a message of strength and courage. "Tell them," he said, "you have not been forgotten. Millions of loyal hearts beat with love and solicitude for you. Your day of vindication and restitution is sure to come!"

"We who are raising or contributing relief funds at this time in order to assist the victims of aggression, tyranny and intolerance abroad, are doing much more than extending help to men, women and children in their dark hour of need," Rabbi Silver declared. "In a profounder sense, we are building dikes against the flood of spiritual anarchy which is engulfing our world," he continued. "We are throwing up a Maginot Line of human compassion across the path of an invasion which has been threatening the very character of our civilization and the whole spiritual life of man."

Rabbi Silver pointed out that thousands inside of Germany are unable to leave because of lack of funds and therefore will lose their visas. In addition to providing transportation it is necessary to contribute toward the maintenance of the refugees, he said. In Belgium, he added, refugees receive 20 cents a day. This assistance may be cut to 10 cents a day unless more adequate funds are available. Funds for use in Poland are now so small, due to the great emergency, that it is possible to continue only a fraction of the work. Today half a million people get one meal a day at the J. D. C. soup kitchens. Unless this is continued, 150,000 people will actually die of starvation, Rabbi Silver asserted; 150,000 tragedies for which, rightly or wrongly, the Jews of America will be held responsible.

A capacity audience heard Rabbi Silver.

Pupils Sing "Star Spangled Banner," Swastika Downed

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
JERSEY SHORE, Pa.—Pupils of Jersey Shore High School refused to enter the building when they found a swastika banner flying from the flag pole. As the janitor climbed up the pole to remove the swastika, the 800 students sang the "Star Spangled Banner." Principal I. V. Grugan then dismissed classes for the day. The banner was turned over to the police.

The sum of $110 has been subscribed for the person bringing about the arrest and conviction of the swastika raiser. B. F. Francis offered $100. Hymie Simon, local junk dealer and the head of one of the village's six Jewish families, put up $10 more.

Bill Would Prohibit Racial Hatred Matter
From Mails of U. S.

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

WASHINGTON—A bill that would bar the mails to matter tending to incite religious and racial hatreds was introduced this week by Senator W. Warren Barbour (Rep., N. J.) and was referred to the Senate judiciary committee.

The senator said he had been "appalled" to find that material of an inflammatory nature had found its way "even into the Congressional Record." The reference obviously was aimed at Representative Jacob Thorkelson (Rep., Mont.), many of whose anti-Semitic statements have been carried in the Record as "extension of remarks."

The bill was framed as an amendment to Section 211 of the Criminal Code, providing that: "The term 'indecent,' within the intent of this section, shall include matter of a character tending to incite arson, murder or assassination or riot and also forgeries of matter of a character fraudulent or scurrilous, tending to incite hate against any religious sect or creed or race."

Predict New Riot
By Holy Land ArabsBy Jewish Telegraphic Agency
CAIRO — Palestine Arab quarters here said this week that a new outbreak of violence was expected in the Holy Land in the near future. According to these sources, agents are traveling throughout Palestine inciting the villagers and new bands are being organized under the slogan, "We demand a national government."

The agents reportedly are pointing out that the land sale restrictions are not doing the Arabs any good since sales are prohibited only in the hill area, where "Jews are not buying anyhow, while the best parts of the land are open to Jewish purchase."

Hostilities, Arab quarters say, will break out after the Feast of Nebi Musa (Moslem holy day marking the death of Moses) are expected to be directed exclusively against the Jews as opposing an Arab national government.

THIS AND THAT

INSIDE DOPE

Indianapolis may actually have the next president of the Zionist Organization of America, and I don't have to tell you his name. The way things shape up now there's going to be a terrific fight for Rabbi Goldman's position, and there's more than a possibility that our own D. F. may slip in as the head man. Mr. Frisch will be elevated to the presidency of the Ohio Valley Zionist Region at its convention here May 17-18, and that may give him, just the needed impetus. While talking about presidents, I can tell you that Mrs. Louis Rapoport will succeed Mrs. Aaron Glick as head of the Beth-El Sisterhood. Also Max Farb will go up to the presidency of the B'nai B'rith, and Mrs. S. A. Silberman, as I believe I already told you, will be re-elected by Hadassah.

MANY A SIGH

According to our way of thinking, many a fair maiden and many a hopeful mother will breathe a sigh of regret next Thursday,

May 9, when Milton J. (Josh) Fineberg and Jane Thompson are joined in wedlock. We call Josh No. 1 eligible bachelor of the Jewish community. And it's many a day since a couple has received the send-off this pair are getting. Showers, dinners, stags and farewell parties galore is the order of the day. The wedding, in case you're ambitious, is for the members of the immediate families only, and will take place at the home of Miss Thompson's aunt, Mrs. S. Carroll Kahn. After the ceremony, the couple will be gone for about three weeks on an eastern tour, and after that they'll be at home in Marcy Village where on an apartment hunting tour, they saw the model apartment, rented it, and bought the furnishings, and that was that.

NEW KIRSCHBAUM ADDITION

Now that the Kirschbaum roof has been repaired, have you noticed any other changes in the building? Sure, you know what I mean. It's a growth over Allen's upper lip, and with a stretch of the imagination, it could be called a mustache, maybe. Allen says he used to wear a mustache some time ago anyway.

CURIOSITY SATISFIED

It could hardly be said that there is anything cute about Liebert Mossler, but his two children, that's something else. The other Sunday morning, the trio were in Wheeler's for breakfast, and spying a Methodist minister seated at the counter, garbed in his ministerial collar and black vest, they went up to inspect him. After a second or two of staring, the boy

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Aaron-Ruben Funeral Home for Mrs. Fanny Kantor who died Monday night at her home, 3039 Broadway, after an illness of four years. She was 74 years of age and the widow of Albert Kantor, former rabbi at Shara Tefilla, who died several years ago. Rabbi Elias Charry and Cantor Myro Glass officiated. Burial was in Beth El cemetery.

Mrs. Kantor was a native of Germany and had lived in Indianapolis for 40 years. She was a member of Beth El Sisterhood, the Hadassah sewing group and the Jewish Old Home for the Aged.

She is survived by two daughters; Mrs. Ed Fischer of South Bend and Mrs. Benjamin Shalansky of Indianapolis; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Kaminsky and Mrs. Ray Blumenkranz, New York; two brothers, Al Sachs, Lorraine, O., and Isadore Sachs, Puerto Rico, and two grandchildren.

summoned up enough courage to ask the minister, who was enjoying the little tableau immensely, what the black ribbon was that he used to hold his eyeglasses. He explained the ribbon carefully, and the Mosslers (Bud had joined them by this time) went away satisfied, while the minister chuckled.

KEEP DATES OPEN

Keep your date book open for May 17 and 18. That's the Ohio Valley Zionist Region convention here, with the local district as host. There'll be many interesting meetings and talks, not to mention a musical program and Palestinian movie.

GRANDFATHER JAEGER

Picture a miniature Dr. A. S. Jaeger without a cigar and without that dignity, and you'll see Michael Jaeger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis (Doris) Jaeger, who will be two weeks old tomorrow. The Jewish Family Service Society president walks into the baby room at the Methodist to see how all the babies are progressing, he tells the nurse, but they catch him watching his first grandchild just like an ordinary grandfather. Louis, you should remember, used to write this column.

ROTHSCHILD ELECTED

Refugees Employ 6,000

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—More than 120 industrial establishments employing some 6,000 persons have been founded by refugees, either alone or in collaboration with Britons, the House of Commons was informed by Home Secretary Sir John Anderson. Sir John said the report covered only a small portion of the country.

Tegarden Seeks Place On Republican Ticket

Paul Tegarden, assessor of Washington township, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for treasurer of Marion county.

Coincident with the release of his announcement, Mr. Tegarden issued this statement:

"After consultation with a large group of my Republican friends and acquaintances, I have decided to become a candidate for the important office of treasurer of Marion county, subject to the decision of the Republican primary, May 7.

"I am not a candidate of any group or faction—if there be any such in the Republican party; my appeal is to the rank and file of the voters who will participate in the Republican primary this year. I have never been nor will I ever be affiliated with any organization or group which fosters or condones racial or religious prejudice and intolerance.

Funk's Suit Features Republican Primary

An outstanding feature of the Republican primaries this year has been the vigorous and constructive campaign for the nomination for prosecuting attorney conducted by Glenn W. Funk, whose suit against the Two Per Cent club has been heralded all over the nation as a laudable movement toward purity in elections. The suit brought Funk's name prominently to the front, not only in Marion county but all over the United States.

Funk's views on the conduct of the prosecutor's office have been set out in a ten-point program in which he stresses equal enforcement of law by competent deputies, protection of the innocent from unjust prosecutions and thorough investigation of all matters of public interest as a crime prevention method.

PHI BETA DELTA

Special

BLOOMINGTON.—Preparations have been begun for the house's annual Mother's Day celebration. The highlight of the day will be the evening banquet given in honor of the parents, many of whom are planning to attend. Cards are being sent to all mothers expressing Alpha Theta's greetings for Mother's Day.

The house made a perfect start in the last major sport of the intramural season this week by winning its first two softball games. A successful spring season may place Phi Beta Delta on top of the intramural heap since it now stands in fourth place and only eight points out of first position. In this field, too, Phi Beta Delta is first among Jewish organizations at Indiana University.

Plans are being made for a house picnic which will be held next week at Cascades Park. Many organized students on campus will be invited to attend along with brothers and alumni of the house.

A special dinner was held this week in honor of Mrs. K. Mueller, dean of women. Several women students were also guests of the house on this occasion.

Guests over the weekend were former H. P. Tevie Jacobs and Doctor B. Hyman of Indianapolis; Joseph Cohen and Harold Levine of Terre Haute; Dorothy Zweig, of Purdue University, and many parents who visited the campus.

Pointing to steady growth of the women's groups through the country, lodge officers said that "this is a very important matter and the meeting should be interesting." The need for an auxiliary will be "thoroughly discussed" at the meeting, officers added.

Mrs. Phil Efrogmson was toastmistress and had composed verses humorously mentioning the hobby of each member and the guests. These verses were attached to clever gifts. Mrs. Sam Hahn, a charter member of the club, in a few well-chosen words, presented to Mrs. Harding from the club an electric roaster. Around the roaster was a tape on which was inscribed the autographs of the club members. Between You and Me—

by PAUL A. PETERS

SHAKESPEAREAN NOTE

As the news tickers punched out the news that Hitler had invaded Denmark, Aleph (Poet) Katz remarked loudly enough for everybody in the office to hear: "Now there IS something rotten in Denmark."

CULINARY NOTE

The United States would be at war with Germany at this minute if it depended on a poll of the lovers of Danish pastry and Norwegian smorgasbord in this country.

REFUGEE NOTE

When thinking of the plight of the refugees who had found haven in the Scandinavian countries only to feel Hitler's hot breath on their necks again, give a thought to the situation in Iceland. . . . Where one—count him—just one refugee had managed to find his way. . . . At a press luncheon the other day, Morris C. Troper, European director of the J. D. C., told about him. . . . Seems he wrote Troper asking for aid. . . . Troper replied aid was extended only through committees. . . . The refugee answered he was the only one on the island and constituted himself a committee. . . . He got the aid. . . . And now has the distinction of being included in the J. D. C. annual report, the only instance on record where the J. D. C. made an allocation for an individual rather than a group.

MISH-MASH

President Roosevelt, the nation's number one hot dog eater, has been presented with a twenty-four-foot frankfurter by the Zion Kosher Meat Products Company. The bowwow had to be approved by a special government inspector. . . . Detroit business men are hopping mad at Coughlin and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith. Claim they're giving Detroit a bad name and spoiling business. . . . Gliding is rapidly becoming a popular sport in Palestine. Mt. Carmel was the site of a glider contest recently.

REFUGEE TALK

Three refugees were talking things over the other day in a corridor of Heartbreak House (N. R. S. headquarters in Times Square). One was trying to explain that his wife could not have any children. "She is," he said, struggling for the precise English word to convey his meaning, "impregnable." "Himmel! No!" exclaimed the second refugee, "you mean she is . . . inconceivable." "Ach, dumkopf," the third popped up, "you mean your wife is unbearable."

HEALTH NOTE

The names of the first two actual refugee settlers on the Sosua tract in the Dominican Republic are Sichel and Weinberger. They have been hard at work doing manual labor for several weeks now. The other day someone in New York received from Director Fredrickson Perstein of the Sosua project a brief note containing some significant words. "Our first two settlers," Perstein wrote, "are fine and feeling happy out here. They are healthy and stronger than before." Significant, because one of the vital questions in the entire project is the ability of white Europeans to engage in manual labor in the subtropical climate of the Dominican Republic.

WAR NEWS

David Weizmann, younger son of Dr. Chaim Weizmann, is sporting the coveted wings of an R. A. F. flying officer. His older brother is on the reserve of officers waiting to be called up. . . . Chief Rabbi Hertz's son is a lance-corporal in the Royal Army Service Corps and is due for a commission one of these days. . . . Pilot Officer Albert Greenberg of the R. A. F., whose death in active service was reported in the casualty lists recently, was a nephew of Judge-President Leopold Greenberg of the Traansvaal. A brother, Dr. D. S. Greenberg, is on military service in England. Justice Greenberg, incidentally, occupies a position in South America much like that of ex-Justice Brandeis or Justice Frankfurter here.

SPORTS NOTE

The late Justice Cardozo, according to George S. Hellman's biography, was a terrible golfer. The judge had no illusions about his ability either, once declaring that any course he had played "would seem to have been excavated." He also wasn't very au courant with the names of Hollywood's great. When the conversation was about Greta Garbo one day, Cardozo turned to a friend in the group and asked: "Who is this Greta Garbo?"

The Editor's Chair,

I wonder why in campaigning little or no emphasis is placed upon the character-building effect of an honest donation, as contrasted with the deteriorating effect of a dishonest contribution upon the giver's personality and character.

The stimulus is there, and in many cases the necessary funds are there, but often the individual who should be contributing say $5 a month, or $60 a year, will sign up for $15 and after a few qualms of uneasiness, let it go at that. What does this do to the individual? If before the donation he had any integrity and the will to do the right thing, then what will this mean and petty and furtive thing do to that character!

However character is not built in one day, and if a man dodges his conscience and his responsibilities in this drive, it is probable that he wasn't much of a man last week, or last year.

Take, on the other hand, the man who stops and thinks, and says, I really can't afford to give $100, and then wonders why he can't lay aside $8 a month finally ending up with the $100 pledge. It's not only generosity. It's not only an alertness to obligation; it's all these and much more. It's character, and personality.

So as I see it, what a man gives to charity is the measure of the man. There are no two ways about it. What Indianapolis gives will be the measure of the Indianapolis Jewish community. Is there anyone more despicable than a backslider? Here we are in America with everything, while they are there with nothing. And who is there that would say we are more deserving than they?

Girls' Clubs Plan Affairs For Mothers

Girls' clubs of the Communal Building will be giving a series of dinners and teas for their mothers during the next two weeks. The B'nai Torah girls will have their mothers as honor guests at a dinner which the girls themselves prepare Wednesday, May 8. The Tecumseh Club will also honor their mothers with a dinner at the Communal Building Sunday, May 12. The Com-Inters will entertain mothers at a tea, also on Sunday, May 12. Troop 65, Girl Scouts, will hold a mothers' party on Wednesday, May 14. The Brownie Scouts will end the series with a party on Sunday, May 19. Each Brownie will present her mother with a surprise gift made by herself at Brownie meetings.

Indiana Jewish Communities Turn Back On Responsibilities

WHY Jewish communities throughout Indiana, like Muncie for instance, not to mention the others, are refusing to accept even a minimum quota of refugees is a problem which leads to only one conclusion, and that not very complimentary. When it comes to fund-raising some of these Jewish communities claim a higher per capita contribution than any other city in the United States, excepting not even Cincinnati or Los Angeles. But when it comes to taking refugees, there is a stone wall which is a combination of a shrug of the shoulders and an exposition of why it would be difficult to place the newcomers.

In a pamphlet issued by the United Jewish Appeal the question is asked: "Why is resettlement the most important development in the history of American immigration?" And the answer as given below falls upon deaf ears throughout Indiana.

"The concentration of refugees in ports of entry is fraught with many dangers for the refugees as well as for the native Jewish population. Recognizing that such concentration may be a cause of aggravating anti-Semitic feeling, the NRS has pushed resettlement activities with the aid of some 600 local committees throughout the country. In 1939 a total of 3,500 refugees were resettled and the rate of resettlement is growing each month. Resettlement of refugee families in the smaller cities, away from the congested eastern ports of entry, is recognized as the most effective solution to the emigre's need for adjustment to the American way of life."

Jewry Should Know Real Situation

IN HIS COLUMN, "I Think As I Please," Ben Mordecai in The Jewish Advocate, of Boston, centers attention on a fight within Zionists ranks on the proposed re-organization plan. Mr. Mordecai is publicizing the fight so that "the masses of Zionists outside of New York City, and the delegates who represent them, should be informed of the actual state of affairs, and of the genuine need for reform."

An article elsewhere in this issue gives a complete account of the impending fight. Mr. Mordecai writes further:

"We are informed that there are today 52,000 members of the Z. O. A., of whom about 1,200 are in Manhattan. Yet the Administrative Committee, which has the decisive vote in Zionist affairs, consist of a membership of some 240, of which 63 represent Manhattan's paltry 1,200 members. Worse yet, Greater New York, with 8,000 members, has 122 on the Administrative committee. Contrast that with the 100 odd members representing the remaining 44,000 in the rest of the country. Further, it should be kept in mind that all meetings of the committee are held in the East, thus effectively reducing the actual representation from other parts of the country."

It is obvious why the New York forces are preparing to wage a bitter fight against the re-organization. It actually means the end of New York's domination of the Z. O. A.

Greater New York's 122 members on an administrative committee of 240, will be cut down to about 20 if the re-organization plan is adopted. In Greater New York, there are 8,000 members of the Z. O. A., and under the plan which would allow one member of the administrative committee for each 500 members, New York could name only sixteen to the committee.

In fighting the plan, the New York forces are not stupid enough to argue against its apparent democratic features, but in a roundabout way, they are doing exactly that. They are contending that geographical distribution is no measure of ability. But the fact that the 122 members of the administrative committee and all the New York office were able to secure only 8,000 memberships from a city of three million Jews is a poor commentary on anyone's ability.

The Anglo-Jewish press should line up with Ben Mordecai to apprise American Jewry, and the Zionists, especially, of the real facts. By this educative process, the Lipsky forces will be beaten shamefully, because it becomes too obvious that in fighting the plan they are permitting personal considerations to overshadow the needs of Z. O. A.

Visitors At Federation Meetings

WHEN the Indiana Legislature meets, visitors may listen to the entire proceedings from the balcony. When the United States Congress meets, the doors are open to all. Yet no provision has been arranged, or even comment made, on the lack of such possibilities when the Jewish Federation holds its sessions.

It still holds true that we can't ask for complete democracy in one breath, and then when discussing our organization setup, deny that same democracy. However, in connection with observers and visitors at Federation meetings, this paper believes, this one particular phase has been more forgotten than deliberately restricted.

Yet it can hardly be argued that meetings of the community-wide group, the group that professes to speak for Indianapolis in all matters concerning the Jewish community, should not be thrown open to all who wish to attend.

Maybe They'll Vie For Refugees

THE significance of the Dominican Republic colony at Sousa is not so much in the five or ten or even one hundred thousand souls that will finally settle there, although that is important, but in the fact that the obvious prosperity and economic progress the newcomers will bring to their new land will provide an example to other nations who until now have closed the doors, drawn the bolt, and then threatened to oust even their own aliens. Who knows, in the future, Jewish organizations interested in resettlement of Jewish refugees may be besieged with offers from countries eager for the blessings these immigrants may bring.

and Alberta Shalansky, all Indianapolis.

A formal banquet in honor of the initiates was given at 7:30 at the Hotel Graham. Following the banquet at which Miss Miriam Rosenblum, national public relations chairman, was toastmistress, she talks were given by Mrs. Rosalyn Reisman, national president of Sigma Delta Tau, Mrs. Herta Solomon, Upsilon's chapter adviser, and Jeanette Fichman, chapter president. At this time Evelyn Slung, sophomore, and a former pledge, was awarded the chapter Best Pledge Cup for the year 1939-1940. As a fitting tribute to the occasion, Sigma Zeta of Sigma Alpha Mu presented Upsilon of Sigma Delta Tau with a Scholarship Cup. Each year the name of the girl with the highest scholarship average is to be engraved on the cup. This year the cup will bear the name of Edna Levi, senior.

The climax of the day's activities was a formal reception which was held at the chapter house. Many bouquets of flowers and telegrams of congratulations were received.

Guests for the week-end included: Mrs. Reisman and Miss Rosenblum, from Chattanooga; Mrs. Perle Adler Rosenberg, from Chicago; Mrs. Solomon, of Indianapolis; Mrs. Lea Cassel, Mrs. Jennie Maschke, Mrs. Carolyn Solomon, Mrs. Betty Rothman, and Miss Wilma Goldberg, all of Indianapolis; Miss Henrietta Rubel, of Louisville; Florence Reizner, Phyllis Simon, Dora Cohen, Estelle Cohen, Zola Schwartz, Eileen Krinsky, and Wilma Zavela, from Kappa, University of Illinois, and Roni Miller, Gladys Lifton, Betty Goldberg, Betty Niekrug, and Pauline Rutlett, from Sigma chapter, Northwestern University.
